The declining in Sales result in lower variable costs such as therapist cost, raw material cost and utilities cost. However, with the COVID-19 pandemic, the Company has added efficiency in managing cost of Sales and Services such as discount in rental or switch from fixed rental to GP rental. However, the decrease rate of the Cost is less than the decrease rate of Revenue, therefore the proportion of the selling and administrative expenses to Revenue has increased. Interest payment also increase from 8.58 million baht to 11.04 million baht (an increase of 28.72%) from the increased loan balance during the year and relief clause for the case where the lessor agrees to reduce the rental fee of the Federation of Accounting Professions
